

Friday 4th October 2024

Your challenge is to research an animal of your choice and write one paragraph of a non-chronological report. You can choose to do appearance, habitat or diet (like we have seen in class). Here is a reminder of the model text with the story map to go with it. An extra challenge could be to create your own story map for your paragraph too!

Interestingly, pigs can be found all around the world as many people raise them for lots of useful products, like meat, leather and glue. In addition to farm pigs, many pigs live in the wild and roam freely in forests, grasslands and other types of environment. All pigs like to live with other pigs and form close knit groups. Did you know pigs like to sleep nose to nose with each other for comfort? A pig's living area will consist of a warm, cosy nest to sleep in and a separate toilet called a latrine.

Friday 4th October 2024

Your challenge is to research an animal of your choice and write one paragraph of a non-chronological report. You can choose to do appearance, habitat or diet (like we have seen in class). Here is a reminder of the model text with the story map to go with it. An extra challenge could be to create your own story map for your paragraph too!

Interestingly, pigs can be found all around the world as many people raise them for lots of useful products, like meat, leather and glue. In addition to farm pigs, many pigs live in the wild and roam freely in forests, grasslands and other types of environment. All pigs like to live with other pigs and form close knit groups. Did you know pigs like to sleep nose to nose with each other for comfort? A pig's living area will consist of a warm, cosy nest to sleep in and a separate toilet called a latrine.

